Fixed interest securities which are investments (that could be issued by a company, a government, or another entity) that pay a fixed level of income or interest.

Risk and reward profile

The Risk and Reward Indicator table demonstrates where the Fund ranks in terms of its potential risk and reward. The higher the rank the greater the potential reward but the greater the risk of losing money. It is based on past data, may change over time and may not be a reliable indication of the future risk profile of the Fund. The shaded area in the table below shows the Fund's ranking on the Risk and Reward Indicator.

Typically lower rewards,
lower risk

Typically higher rewards, higher risk

- The Fund is in the above risk category as the Fund's price has shown high fluctuations historically. The lowest category does not mean a Fund is a risk free investment.
- The value of investments may go down as well as up in response to general market conditions and the performance of the assets held. Investors may not get back the money which they invested.
- The movements of exchange rates may lead to further changes in the value of investments and the income from them.
- There is no guarantee that the Fund will meet its stated objectives.
- A limited number of investments may be held, which has the potential to increase the volatility of performance.
- Investment in emerging markets can involve greater risk than established markets which may lead to increased volatility of returns.
- The Fund is subject to risks associated to global energy markets including the supply and demand of energy commodities and political, economic and financial events. The Fund may also have a bias towards companies engaged in energy exploration and production, a part of the sector that is particularly speculative meaning risks are greater. The share prices of these companies are also sensitive to rises and falls in the oil price, which may lead to increased volatility of returns.
- The Fund may invest in smaller companies. These securities are often traded less frequently than those of larger companies, this means they may be more difficult to buy and sell. Their prices may also be subject to short term swings.
- There is a risk that any company providing services such as safe keeping of assets or acting as counterparty to derivatives may become insolvent, which may cause losses to the Fund.
