WHAT ARE THE RISKS AND WHAT COULD I GET IN RETURN?

Summary Risk Indicator

The risk indicator assumes you keep the product until 30 January 2034. The actual risk can vary significantly if you cash in at an early stage and you may get back less. You may not be able to sell your product easily or you may have to sell at a price that significantly impacts on how much you get back.

The summary risk indicator is a guide to the level of risk of this product compared to other products. It shows how likely it is that the product will lose money because of movements in the markets or because Crédit Agricole CIB is not able to pay you. We have classified this product as 4 out of 7, which is a medium risk class. This classification takes into consideration two elements: 1) the market risk - that rates the potential losses from future performance at a medium level; and 2) the credit risk which estimates that poor market conditions are very unlikely to impact the capacity of Crédit Agricole CIB to pay you. If the product is denominated in a currency other than British pound sterling, be aware of currency risk: you will receive payments in a different currency, so the final return you will get depend on the exchange rate between the two currencies. This risk is not considered in the indicator shown above. A risk that is materially relevant to the product but not included in the summary risk indicator is the risk that in the event the product redeems early due to an autocall, you may be unable to reinvest your money at an attractive rate. The summary risk indicator, which has been determined in accordance with the UK version of Commission Delegated Regulation (EU) 2017/653, being derived from the historical performance of the Underlying(s), may understate the risk of losses you may experience in connection with this product. This product does not include any protection from future market performance so you could lose some or all of your investment. If Crédit Agricole CIB is not able to pay you what is owed, you could lose your entire investment.

INVESTMENT PERFORMANCE INFORMATION

Factors affecting the return of the product at the end of the recommended holding period

Your return on the product at the end of the recommended holding period will principally be affected by (1) the performance of the underlyings over the recommended holding period and (2) the issuer's creditworthiness, which can have a material impact on your return if, for example, the issuer is unable to make payments that become due on the product.

What could affect my return positively?

- An increase in the levels of the underlyings

What could affect my return negatively?

- A decrease in the levels of the underlyings
- The occurrence of a Barrier Event
- The manufacturer's inability to make the payments due.

The factors listed above provide general guidance on how changes in the level of the underlyings may affect your return if you hold the product to maturity. The precise impact will depend on the timing and magnitude of these changes, and the list above should not be viewed as guaranteeing a particular outcome. See "What is this product?" for a discussion of how the payments you may receive during the life of the product and/or at the end of the recommended holding period will be calculated.

In severely adverse market conditions, if you hold the product to the end of the recommended holding period, you may lose your entire investment. This does not take into account a situation where the issuer is unable to pay you.

Additional factors affecting the price of the product in the secondary market

In addition to the factors discussed above, the performance of the product in the secondary market will also be affected by the volatility of the levels of the underlyings, credit default swap levels of the reference entity/ies, the product's remaining time to maturity, the actual and perceived ability of the manufacturer and its guarantor to meet their obligations, interest rates, exchange rates, the dividend yields of the underlyings and the correlation between the various underlyings.

If you sell the product in severely adverse market conditions prior to maturity, your return may be lower than what you would have received if you held the product to the end of the recommended holding period and may be as low as zero. See "How long should I hold it and can I take money out early" below for additional information.

WHAT HAPPENS IF CRÉDIT AGRICOLE CIB IS UNABLE TO PAY OUT?

This product is not protected by any investor compensation or guarantee scheme. If Crédit Agricole CIB is unable to make a payment and/or is in default, you may lose some or all of your invested amount and any payment may be delayed.

WHAT ARE THE COSTS?

The Reduction in Yield (RIY) shows what impact the total costs you pay will have on the investment return you might get. The total costs take into account one-off, ongoing and incidental costs.

The amounts shown here are the cumulative costs of the product itself, for 3 different holding periods. They include potential early exit penalties. The figures assume you invest GBP 10,000. The figures are estimates and may change in the future.

Costs over time

The person selling you or advising you about this product may charge you other costs. If so, this person will provide you with information about these costs, and show you the impact that all costs will have on your investment over time.
